Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

Ready to connect India, Starlink replies to Reliance

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

AISA president Neha Bora released from RK Puram police station in New Delhi PTI

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

PITCH PERFECT

- India now has more than 130 million stock-market investors, over 40% of them under 30, as per NSE data
- Old shareholders view Reliance as a stock to hold for decades
- Young investors see profits play big role in investment
- Reliance shares have delivered an annualised average return of about 29% since listing

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

ALL SET

- Worked closely with regulators, industry & operators in India for 5+ years
- Ready to offer high-speed internet services in India

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

PITCH PERFECT

- India now has more than 130 million stock-market investors, over 40% of them under 30, as per NSE data
- Old shareholders view Reliance as a stock to hold for decades
- Young investors see profits play big role in investment
- Reliance shares have delivered an annualised average return of about 29% since listing

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

ALL SET

- Worked closely with regulators, industry & operators in India for 5+ years
- Ready to offer high-speed internet services in India

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

PITCH PERFECT

- India now has more than 130 million stock-market investors, over 40% of them under 30, as per NSE data
- Old shareholders view Reliance as a stock to hold for decades
- Young investors see profits play big role in investment
- Reliance shares have delivered an annualised average return of about 29% since listing

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

Jio's mega IPO tests Ambani appeal with young Indians

Jio Platforms plans to raise $3.2 bn, IPO opens on October 21

BLOOMBERG
October 17

FOR GENERATIONS OF Indians, Reliance Industries was their introduction to the stock market. Founder Dhirubhai Ambani drew middle-income savers into shares, building a following that endured for decades.

Nearly fifty years after Reliance went public, his billionaire son Mukesh and grandson Akash are preparing to list the group's telecom and digital services arm in what is set to be India's biggest initial public offering. Jio Platforms plans to raise about $3.2 billion in the offering, which opens on October 21. The IPO will test how much the Reliance brand still matters to retail investors. Jio is pitching to a very different market from the one Dhirubhai knew. India now has more than 130 million registered stock-market investors, nearly 40% of them under 30, according to National Stock Exchange of India data. For younger investors, growth, profits and valuation play a bigger role in the investment decision. Mahendra Chheda, 69, started as a floor trader in the late 1960s before becoming a member of the Bombay Stock Exchange. "Be it Dhirubhai's ambition, his quest to create an army of retail investors or the return of capital to shareholders, Reliance set itself miles apart," he said. His son, Hardik, 44, an equities trader, takes a different view of Jio. "I will be taking out profit soon after listing," he said. "Retail investors owe a lot to the Ambanis for popularising direct stock ownership, but we are now in a different era of financial markets."

Jio has drawn more than $20 billion in bids, and overseas investors including Fidelity Management & Research, Allianz SE and Capital Group have indicated interest, people familiar with the matter have said. Even with that demand, Jio will sell shares at ₹1,065–1,119 apiece, valuing the company at about $108 billion at the top of the range. That puts it at a discount to Bharti Airtel's $125 billion market value. Prathamesh Gokhale, 24, said Jio's growth outlook matter more to him than the Ambani legacy. He plans to bid for the IPO. "If I get lucky with an allotment, I will sell half of my holding in the short term for a quick profit and keep the rest for longer-term gains," he said. He views Bharti Airtel as an attractive investment.

PITCH PERFECT

- India now has more than 130 million stock-market investors, over 40% of them under 30, as per NSE data
- Old shareholders view Reliance as a stock to hold for decades
- Young investors see profits play big role in investment
- Reliance shares have delivered an annualised average return of about 29% since listing

FSSAI mulls a ban on added sugar in baby food

FOOD REGULATOR FSSAI has proposed banning addition of fructose and sucrose in food products for infants up to six months of age, a move aimed at safeguarding children's health by minimising early exposure to added sugar. The objective is to strengthen nutritional safeguards for infants, according to a statement from Ministry of Health and Family Welfare.

The regulator has initiated legal proceedings for prosecution against Surya Food & Agro for using cattle feed bran in manufacturing of Priyagold biscuits; Dodla Dairy and Ueir Organic Foods for serious violations of FSSAI rules and regulations. There are notices issued to Nestle India and Hindustan Unilever for misleading claims on the packaging on Horlicks Women's Plus Chocolate Nutrition Drink and Horlicks Mother's Plus Kesar, while Nestle India, Schreiber Dynamix Dairies and Lotus Dairy Products have been issued notice for non-compliance with rules regarding its 'Nescafe Ready-to-Drink' products.

Meanwhile, police have filed an FIR against officials of Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Hyperpure by Zomato after the Maharashtra FDA seized food stock worth ₹48 lakh during a multi-district crackdown on sale of expired food products, an official said on Saturday.

The FIR, registered at the Shanti Nagar police station in Thane, names 10 persons including senior officials and employees associated with Reliance Consumer Products, Reliance Retail, Blinkit and Zomato Hyperpure, along with disposal agency operators and local suppliers. —PTI

OJASVI GUPTA
New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

ALL SET

- Worked closely with regulators, industry & operators in India for 5+ years
- Ready to offer high-speed internet services in India

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.

New Delhi, October 17

ELON MUSK-OWNED STARLINK said that it has spent more than five years working with Indian regulators, industry and operators, and that the dedicated infrastructure it has built in the country carries the requisite government approvals.

"We have worked closely with regulators, industry and operators in India for 5+ years, and built a network of dedicated systems, gateways, and other infrastructure all in-country to exclusively serve Indian traffic safely and securely—and all with the requisite government approvals," Starlink said in a post on X on Friday. "Starlink is ready to connect India with high-speed internet," it added.

The post, had tagged Reliance Industries' statement on X issued earlier that said it welcomed competition in satellite communications, including from Starlink, while emphasising that all companies, domestic or foreign, must comply with Indian laws and regulatory requirements. The company also pointed out that Jio's own satellite services were awaiting clearances. Reliance has rejected suggestions that it fears competition. Starlink's assertion that its infrastructure has received the requisite approvals comes against the backdrop of continuing regulatory scrutiny of satellite communications services in India. The Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has maintained that the approval framework is non-discriminatory and applies to all applicants. Communications Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia has said operators must meet the prescribed conditions before they can launch services. Starlink, Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed Eutelsat OneWeb have all secured satellite communications licences but have faced delays in completing the requirements for commercial operations. The status of security assessments and spectrum assignment remains central to the launch timelines. The government has chosen administrative allocation of satellite spectrum under the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than an auction-based mechanism.

137 anti-cancer drugs to become 70% cheaper

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

DRUG PRICING REGULATOR NPPA on Saturday capped trade margins on 137 non-scheduled anti-cancer formulations at 30%, according to an official statement. The move, effective November 9, is expected to slash retail prices of these critical life-saving medicines by up to 70% depending on their current price structures, the Ministry of Chemicals and Fertilisers statement said.

The National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA), functioning under the Department of Pharmaceuticals, implemented the Trade Margin Rationalisation (TMR) mechanism under Paragraph 19 of the Drugs (Prices Control) Order (DPCO), 2013, following a gazette notification issued on Saturday.

The intervention stems from recommendations by an expert committee constituted under the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS), comprising leading oncologists, medical specialists, hospital experts from across the country, and government officials. The committee recommended 137 drugs for margin rationalisation, and the list will be updated periodically.

Government caps trade margins at 30%, effective November 9

Drugmakers are mandated to publish revised price lists on their official websites and disseminate widely among retailers and hospitals. Furthermore, retailers and hospitals must charge reduced rates from November 9 and display the revised prices in their pharmacies. Hospitals, which directly procure oncology medicines are also required to prominently exhibit the new rates on their websites and will bear direct responsibility for ensuring the revised prices are implemented. Consumers can verify and check the updated drug rates through the NPPA website and the 'Pharma Sahi Daam' mobile app. To ensure strict adherence, state drug controllers have been directed to enforce compliance across the board.

NPPA underscored that the rationalisation seeks to curb excessive margins in the distribution and retail channels without denting legitimate manufacturing revenues or causing artificial shortages.

Pharmaceutical companies have been directed to maintain their current production and supply levels for the notified formulations to guarantee uninterrupted and timely access to vital medicines for patients across the country, the statement added.

Bora released, Dipke gets bail after signing peace bond

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 17

ALL INDIA STUDENTS' Association (AISA) president Neha Bora was released early Saturday morning, while Cockroach Janata Party (CJP) founder Abhijeet Dipke was granted conditional bail and asked to sign a peace bond on Saturday, police sources said.

Dipke was detained moments after he stepped out of his house in Delhi's Jhandewalan area to participate in the CJP's "Lehra Do Tiranga" protest at Connaught Place on Friday. He was arrested on Saturday morning for allegedly violating a peace bond furnished by him on October 10. "Based on the assurance given in the peace bond, he was let off. We are awaiting for the written order for further details," a senior police officer said. Dipke was produced before a special executive magistrate at the Mandir Marg police station and granted bail on certain conditions. However, police have not issued a statement on the development. Bora was released after completing formalities related to her detention under Section 65 of the Delhi Police Act. After being released, Bora slammed the Delhi Police and the BJP government at the Centre, calling the detentions "illegal". She also demanded an end to the SIR process and called for the resignation of Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and for him to be jailed.

"I was detained at Mandi House and kept here (at the police station) the whole night, until 5 am. Why are you (police) carrying out these illegal detentions? These things have been happening in this country for a long time, and this movement has clearly shown that such detentions are taking place. It has brought these kinds of detentions to light. They claim that they adhere to law and order and go by the book, but none of that is happening," Bora said.
